1. Economy-class passengers flying with Air New Zealand will be able to enjoy a good rest on long flights.
2. It has rained a lot in the past couple of years, but not enough to give you hot water just by fixing a turbine to your umbrella.
3. When a customer in the south of England switches on the light, someone in Scotland flushes a bit of water down the mountain.
4. He sat down and ordered a coffee.
5. Two teenage girls were carrying a “Welcome home, Mum!” sign and were looking for their mother in the crowd.
6. A gang of three men had broken in and stolen £3 million in cash.
7. Back home he lies on the sofa, staring at the ceiling.
8. I usually listen to the radio while I do the ironing, so I actually quite enjoy that.
9. The weather’s going to pick up a bit in the afternoon.
10. Every morning I get up and look at the same old tired face in the mirror.
